PASSPORT NOW REQUIRED FOR CANADIANS TRAVELLING TO BERMUDA

NEW YORK, May 3, 2010 – Effective May 1, 2010, Bermuda's Department of Immigration is requiring Canadian citizens to present a passport when entering Bermuda. Historically, Canadians were the only nationals permitted to enter Bermuda by presenting a long-form birth certificate with valid photo identification as proof of their citizenship in lieu of a valid passport. However, in order to standardize the process, the Bermuda Department of Immigration is requiring all Canadian air travellers to present a valid passport.

“Canada is an ever-important tourism market for Bermuda, and we don’t anticipate this change to cause a noticeable impact on Canadians traveling to the destination,” said William Griffith, Director of Tourism for Bermuda. “Reports indicate nearly 100 percent of all Canadians that visited Bermuda over the past year have entered using a valid passport and with WestJet’s new daily non-stop service from Toronto Pearson International Airport providing additional options to visit, we feel confident that Bermuda will continue to be a popular destination for Canadians.

GOLFWEEK MAGAZINE NAMES THREE BERMUDA COURSES AMONG WORLD'S BEST

NEW YORK, May 26, 2010 – Golfweek magazine recently awarded top honors to three Bermuda courses in its “2010 Best 50 Best Courses of the Caribbean & Mexico” listing, reports The Bermuda Department of Tourism. Port Royal Golf Club, a Robert Trent Jones design and home to the PGA Grand Slam Championship, and Tucker’s Point Club, a dramatically re-designed championship golf course crafted by Roger Rulewich – former senior designer for Robert Trent Jones – were lauded among the region’s finest. Bermuda’s famous Mid Ocean Club at Tucker’s Town, featuring a 1921 design by Charles Blair Macdonald and Seth Raynor, retained its second place ranking from 2009.

“We are pleased to continue to receive great recognition for our high caliber of golf,” states Dr. the Hon. Ewart F. Brown, JP, MP, Premier and Minister of Tourism and Transport for Bermuda. “This is a testament to our partners’ continued commitment to providing exceptional golf experiences to travelers from across the globe.”

Port Royal Golf Club, combining undulating terrain, lush greenery and dramatic ocean side cliffs, is open to the public and boasts one of the most difficult and beautiful par 3s in the world. The course recently experienced a $15+ million renovation and will once again host the PGA Grand Slam Championship, October 18-20, 2010. Tucker’s Point Golf Club boasts dramatic views as well as re-contoured fairways and bunkers and can be played by guests of Tucker’s Point Hotel & Spa, which opened last year. The Mid Ocean Club is a private club with a championship 18-hole golf course, guest rooms, full-service clubhouse, tennis courts and beaches. The 71 par course emphasizes the long game with six par 4s over 400 yards.

Golfweek magazine’s ratings were determined by a group of 550 panelists who travel across the world rating golf courses. Criteria ranged from natural setting and overall land plan to variety and memorability of each hole and quality of conditioning.

Bermuda, just under two hours from East Coast gateway cities, stretches for 21 miles along turquoise waters and is surrounded by a 200-square-mile coral reef plateau. The island has more golf courses per square mile than anywhere in the world and the pleasant climate allows for a round of play any month of the year, no matter the season. Each of its breathtaking courses features a blend of turquoise ocean views, rolling hills and humbling challenges. BERMUDA DEPARTMENT OF TOURISM'S 2010 MARKETING STRATEGY UNDERScores PROXIMITY, PINK SAND IN TWO HOURS OR LESS

NEW YORK, June 1, 2010 – The Bermuda Department of Tourism is emphasizing its close proximity along with its pink sand and beauty as part of its summer marketing strategy in North America. The strategy underscores one of the destination's key selling points -- attainable paradise in two hours or less from many major East Coast cities, including Boston, Philadelphia, New York/New Jersey and Baltimore.

“The proximity message is key to our strategy in driving visitation to Bermuda this summer,” said William Griffith, Director of Tourism for Bermuda. “We’re optimistic heading into June as most of our hotels are reporting near sellout through the end of July. New flight service, including the recent launch of WestJet’s non-stop flights from Toronto, will help boost tourism to Bermuda from the Canadian market, while the seasonal USA3000 non-stop flights from Baltimore will help our visitation from the Baltimore and mid-Atlantic region.”

The current Bermuda-branded creative advertising pieces utilized in the campaign were developed to increase awareness and drive immediate bookings from regional markets along the East Coast of the United States. They tout “Bermuda in 2 Hours or Less” with the recognizable pink Bermuda shorts icon and a picturesque image of a serene Bermudian beach. This creative includes eye-catching billboards across high volume locations throughout Boston, New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia, and will be in place through the end of October 2010 to increase awareness of Bermuda during peak season. The Bermuda Department of Tourism has also purchased bus kings, wallpaper-like ads that run half the length of the vehicle, on 75 commuter and inter-city buses in Manhattan.

In an effort to increase marketing efforts to top market consumers, The Bermuda Department of Tourism's 2010 summer media plan is supported by regional television spots, as well as regional and national newspaper and magazine ads. BDOT has also partnered with CBS Radio on a three-part ambassador program in New York City, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., launching on June 7. The goal of the promotion is to drive immediate peak season bookings to Bermuda by immersing top radio talent in the destination while also highlighting the colorful personalities of Bermuda locals and business owners.

Phase I of the CBS Radio partnership will build buzz and excitement via on-air promotions for each ambassador's upcoming trip to Bermuda. Notable personalities such as Boomer Esiason from WFAN Sports Radio and Dan Taylor from WCBS-FM in New York, Cadillac Jack from 98.1 WOGL and 1210AM's "Big Talker" Dom Giordano in Philadelphia will join DC-based radio talents Gregg Daniels representing 94.7 Fresh FM and Brian Mitchell from 106.7 The Fan to report on their Bermudian adventures for regional listeners. This second phase of the promotion will feature a series of vignettes highlighting each radio personality's trip with a call to action for listeners to book their own travel. In addition, local Bermudians will be interviewed in segments called "Meet the Bermudians." Spokespeople will include local retailers, hotel personnel, golf pros, chefs, scuba experts, fishermen and more.

A third phase of the CBS Radio promotion will involve trip recaps provided by the radio personalities once they have arrived back at the studio following their trip. As an added value component, a branded ambassadors' web page will be developed featuring Bermuda destination highlights, trip giveaways and a photo gallery of the Bermudians interviewed.

In Toronto, both traditional and digital media has been purchased to promote the new WestJet service to Bermuda. Traditional media includes billboards, posters and transit shelters in areas with high visibility. The digital component features video boards, Elevator News Networks and subway screens, highlighting affordable airfares and the proximity message in both English and French-Canadian.

Niche marketing is still another aspect of The Bermuda Department of Tourism's 2010 strategy through the summer season. A new partnership with Brides.com, a leading bridal website operated by Condé Nast Publications, will raise awareness of Bermuda as an idyllic location for destination weddings and honeymoons with special focus on the New York City market. The multi-layered partnership includes Bermuda as the exclusive sponsor of the Brides.com homepage for one day and the "Destination Weddings/Honeymoon" blog for one month. Bermuda advertisements will also be featured on a daily e-newsletter. A custom, dedicated email to the Brides.com database promoting Bermuda as a wedding/honeymoon destination will also be distributed. Guerrilla marketing will be folded into the Brides.com partnership when New York City's Mayor Bloomberg declares an official "Brides.com Love Day" on June 21 when a Bermuda-branded "Love Truck" will be stationed outside Manhattan's City Hall.

Bermuda, just under two hours from East Coast gateway cities, stretches for 21 miles along turquoise waters and is surrounded by a 200-square-mile coral reef plateau. BERMUDA OFFICIALS INTRODUCE TOURISM PRODUCT TO TOP TORONTO MEDIA

Bermuda Department of Tourism Unveils Destination-Wide News in Toronto

Toronto, August 13, 2010 – Toronto-based media was able to “Feel the Love” of Bermuda on Thursday, August 12, at a Bermuda Department of Tourism (BDOT) media-exclusive luncheon. The BDOT hosted 28 top-notch media to an elegant luncheon at Toronto’s celebrated Sassafras restaurant. Representing a full spectrum of outlets, including Toronto Star, Toronto Sun, National Post, Globe and Mail, Discovery Channel Networks, Elle Canada, Parents Canada, Today’s Bride and more, BDOT spokespersons were able to provide messaging on a range of topics such as bridal, consumer and trade travel, golf, diving, family, and adventure. Media feasted on Bermudian-style menu selections such as Bermudian fish chowder, mahi mahi and rum cake, as William Griffith, Director of Tourism for the BDOT presented a detailed summary of Bermuda’s latest news, hospitable culture, new and revitalized resorts, as well as Bermuda’s thriving culinary scene. He stressed the destination’s close proximity to Toronto along with increased airlift updates. The BDOT also supplied media materials and invited journalists on assignment to visit Bermuda over the coming months.

“Toronto is our gateway city for the Canadian market and a key business driver for Bermuda,” stated William Griffith, Director of Tourism for the BDOT. “We’ve experienced a strong response to the May launch of service from affordable carrier WestJet Airlines, which spurred competitive pricing with Air Canada. Bermuda has increased investment in the Toronto market so it's important to speak with media to ensure consumer awareness continues to grow."

The BDOT has plans to bring two Bermuda destination experiences to Canadians this summer, including a Canadian "Road Show" slated for September 13 – 16, in the Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal markets. The Road Show will target travel agents and tour operators to help make it even easier for Canadians to book a Bermuda vacation.

Additionally, Toronto will soon witness the arrival of several bright pink double-decker street cars wrapped in Bermuda signage from September to November. Following the success of the pink taxi initiative in London, the BDOT is taking the pink street car initiative on the road to Toronto. The vibrant, eye-catching double street cars will be positioned in high-traffic locations to serve as mobile-marketing branding stunts to further promote the destination.

Bermuda, under three hours from Toronto, stretches for 21 miles along turquoise waters and is surrounded by a 200-square-mile coral reef plateau. Bermuda's diverse activities offer an array of vacation options all year round, including more wreck dives than anywhere else in the world, championship golf, horseback riding, world-renowned deep sea fishing and smooth pink beaches to rest on by day's end. From simple and inexpensive to elegant and special dining, Bermuda has more than 150 restaurants to fit any traveler's budget. The Bermuda episode will feature Colburn attending the Bermuda Day Parade, exploring Crystal and Fantasy Caves, swimming with dolphins at DolphinQuest, deep sea fishing and then preparing her catch at The Point Restaurant with Chef Serge at Tucker's Point. She also went scuba diving with Triangle Diving, which she enthusiastically referred to as "the coolest thing I have ever done."

According to Colburn, "Taping TAKEOFF in Bermuda made me realize that paradise really does exist. I am so excited to show WealthTV viewers how much adventure you can find on the island, the hospitality you can expect and how wonderful the Bermudians are. In the show I go scuba diving and I have to say it was the best experience I have ever had. Now I want to go get certified so I can return to Bermuda and explore the sea even more!"

ANYTHING ELS JUST WOULDN'T BE CRICKET – IT WOULD BE GOLF!

BERMUDA, October 19, 2010 – Spectators at the 2010 PGA Grand Slam of Golf in Bermuda were given a special treat when they received two sporting spectacles for the price of one.

During downtime at the PGA Grand Slam of Golf event at the prestigious Port Royal Golf Course, golfer Ernie Els and West Indian cricketing legend Brian Lara decided to turn the lush green on the 16th hole into a wicket. An impromptu cricket match then took place delighting spectators and competitors alike.

Bermuda's Premier Dr. Ewart Brown joined in the action and provided a very real safe pair of hands behind a very imaginary pair of stumps.

Els said he hadn't hit a cricket ball for a quarter of a century, but was happy with his performance. He also praised his old friend Lara for his golfing skills – he plays off of a five handicap.

THREE-TIME MAJOR CHAMPION ERNIE ELS WINS THE PGA GRAND SLAM OF GOLF "CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS" TOURNAMENT AT BERMUDA'S FAMED PORT ROYAL GOLF COURSE

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, October 21, 2010 –Major champion Ernie Els becomes the "Champion of Champions" of this year's 28th PGA Grand Slam of Golf. The tournament was played at Bermuda's prestigious Port Royal Golf Course in Southampton on October 18-20, 2010. Here are details to recap the event.

And the Winner is...

Three-time major champion Ernie Els made the most of his invitation, carding birdies on 14, 15, and 16 to pull out a come-from-behind, one-shot victory over 2001 PGA Champion and fellow invitee David Toms. The victory was Els' second in the prestigious event, coming 13 years after he captured the 1997 PGA Grand Slam of Golf in Hawaii. U.S. Open Champion Graeme McDowell and PGA Champion Martin Kaymer tied for third, eight shots back. The tournament summary includes:

1. Ernie Els, 68-69=137 (-5) $600,000
2. David Toms, 67-71=138 (-4) $300,000
3. Graeme McDowell, 72-73=145 (+3) $225,000
3. Martin Kaymer, 74-71=145 (+3) $225,000

Els Uses Three To Make Two:

Els' second victory came via three consecutive birdies on the back nine. Struggling for the better part of two days with his putter, Els woke up on Port Royal's back nine, draining a 15-footer for birdie on No. 14, wedging to three feet for another birdie on 15, then conquering the beautiful and brutal par-3 16th with a 35-foot birdie putt. All this, in 30 mph winds. "I really think today it was a real challenge," Els said. "If there's no wind, you can make a lot of birdies around this place. When it's like this, it's like this probably quite often, because it is an island, get a lot of wind, it's a really great challenge."

If That Wasn't Enough:

For good measure, Els saved par on 17 by sinking a 12-footer. "I felt like I didn't necessarily lose this thing. Ernie birdieing 14, 15 and 16, the putt he made on 16, I'd say he won the tournament," Toms said. "For me to go through those holes, play them under par would have been a pretty good feat in itself. He played them 3 under."

-more-

Good Putter, Nice Putter:

Els said his putter, "I was struggling on the greens a bit yesterday. I was struggling on the greens again today until let's say the last five, six holes when I found something in my putting stroke. My speed came back. I made some really big putts. Those are the putts that I was missing almost a day and a half, then started dropping, and that was the difference."

Major Toms Puts On A General Clinic:

Toms' consistent, steady game; he had three bogeys in his first 32 holes, looked to carry the day, especially after chipping in on 12 (for birdie) and 14 (for par). But when Toms parred the 14th and Els birdied, the two-shot swing started Els' comeback. Still, Toms turned in a solid runner-up finish with his 4-under total in the Bermuda winds. "For me, I feel really good about the way I've played the last month and a half or so. I feel like I'm getting really close. Today would have helped, being able to get over that hump."

Spinning His Wheels:

One day after enduring a triple-bogey 7 on the 11th hole, McDowell broke out of the gate Wednesday with three birdies in his first five holes. With a bogey sandwiched in, McDowell managed to close within three of Toms coming to the reachable (517-yard), par-5 seventh hole. But a misplayed hybrid out of a fairway bunker cascaded into McDowell's second 7 of the tournament and dropped the U.S. Open champion back to 1-over at the turn. Back-to-back bogeys on 13 and 14 ended McDowell's chances.

He Should Have Stuck With His First 'Guess':

Squirt, the resident Octopus Oracle of the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum & Zoo, chose Kaymer to win the PGA Grand Slam of Golf. This, after Squirt started at Toms' box before pulling the shrimp out of Kaymer's. Apparently, while Kaymer knew about the would-be nautical Nostradamus, his game didn't get the memo. The reigning PGA Champion tied for third (74-71) at 3-over.

Sweet 16 Memories:

2009 PGA Grand Slam of Golf Champion Lucas Glover is immortalized in a small plaque on the tee box of the par-3 16th hole – Port Royal's signature hole and resident conversation piece. The long, par-3, reminiscent of the famous over-the-ocean par-3 16th at California's renowned Cypress Point, requires a hybrid or long-iron shot over the Atlantic to a tiered green. It was enough to scare Glover into commenting "Man, I've never been so nervous on a shot." That quote is now immortalized on the plaque.

Where's My Plaque:

Els completed his birdie string with a long birdie putt from off the green on No. 16.

PARK HYATT LUXURY BRAND TO BECOME PART OF EQUITY INVESTMENT GROUP FOR BERMUDA RESORT PROJECT TO BREAK GROUND IN 2011

NEW YORK, October 25, 2010 – The majestic isles of Bermuda will soon welcome the luxury brand group Park Hyatt to its turquoise shores with the commitment to be part of an equity investment group in a new $300 million total project cost resort development.

The Bermuda Department of Tourism has been working to bring the multi-million dollar project to fruition since 2007. Previously, Park Hyatt had agreed to manage the project, which is located on the former Club Med site in the historic town of St. George's, Bermuda (a UNESCO World Heritage Site). According to Bermuda's Premier, Dr. The Hon. Ewart F. Brown, JP, MP, who also serves as Minister of Tourism and Transport, the investment by Park Hyatt to become an equity stakeholder serves as a vote of confidence in Bermuda's tourism business.

"As many in the hotel development community can attest, the addition of a management company as an investor is rare," said Premier Brown. "Park Hyatt's action is evidence that they believe in Bermuda's commitment to the continued enhancement of our tourism product. This is the greatest vote of confidence in Bermuda and in St. George's. The Government of Bermuda is extremely proud to work in partnership with one of the worlds most sought after brands."

The ground-breaking of the new Park Hyatt Resort and Hotel is slated for November 2011. The construction is anticipated to take 24 – 30 months. Carl Bazarian, President of ADDAX Holdings, developer and investor in the project, said the Park Hyatt Group's investment should alleviate doubts about the hotel project moving forward in the current economic climate.

"Park Hyatt Group has agreed to invest because they believe they will see returns," said Bazarian. "I wish to thank Dr. Brown for his vision and commitment to us for being the catalyst for his 'Platinum era legacy' and restoring Bermuda where it belongs as the ultimate luxury destination in the Atlantic and Caribbean."

Park Hyatt's Director of Development and Corporate Communications, Laurie Cole, followed Mr. Bazarian's sentiment's saying, "If there is a situation where we think it will be helpful to put our capital in, we will."

The new Park Hyatt Bermuda will include a 100-room hotel as well as 71 hotel condominiums, 39 villa residences and 12 single family homes. Also on the 125-acre site will be an 18-hole Nick Faldo-designed golf course, an 18,000 square-foot spa and fitness center and two tennis courts. Guest will be able to dine at two full-service restaurants, two cafés and a Beach Club. Additionally, the project will provide housing for 160 employees and include an on-site wastewater treatment plant and reverse osmosis water purification facility.
